HOTELS & RESORTS

Mexico & Central & South America

Peru had a strong showing this year, with a combined total of nine city and resort hotels ranking among the World's Best.

More than a million visitors a year take in the colonial architecture of Cuzco, the gateway to Machu Picchu.

WINNER SPOTLIGHT A PERFECT DAY IN SAN MIGUEL DE ALLENDE

For the second year in a row, this colonial city was voted the best in the world. San Miguel's compact size means you can pack in a lot, even within the course of a single day. Check in to the Rosewood San Miguel de Allende (rosewoodhotels.com; doubles from $430), a quick walk from the main square, El Jardín, and voted the No. 1 city hotel in Mexico. The 67 rooms are spacious, with such atmospheric details as exposed-beam ceilings and hand-carved furniture; don't miss sunset cocktails at the Luna Rooftop Tapas Bar. Across the way is the Historical Museum of San Miguel de Allende (casadeallende.inah.gob.mx), where you can get acquainted with the city's past. When hunger strikes, grab a terrace seat at nearby Atrio (3 Cuna de Allende; 52-415-688-1405; entrées $5-$30) for a lunch of soft-shell-crab tacos. From there, it's about a 15-minute cab ride to Fábrica La Aurora (fabricalaaurora.com), a former fabric mill that now houses 50-plus galleries, studios, and antiques shops. Come dinnertime, head to Trazo 1810 at Casa 1810 Hotel Boutique (casa1810.com; entrées $7-$22), where chef Alan Carias mixes the flavors of Mexico, the Mediterranean, and Asia. Ready for a nightcap? A block away, the candlelit La Mezcalería (47A Calle de Correo; 52-415-121-5354) is a go-to for small-batch mezcals and cucumber-and-cilantro margaritas.

WINNER SPOTLIGHT IN THE LOWELL'S NEIGHBORHOOD

There's no better ambassador for the Upper East Side—that old-school, old-money part of Manhattan—than the Lowell (lowellhotel.com; doubles from $885), known for its lavish flowers and glamorous interiors by Michael S. Smith, who redid the public spaces in 2016. Stay at this property, voted the No. 1 city hotel in the U.S., to experience the neighborhood's secrets and famous attractions. A similar vibe pervades the Simone (entrées $39–$46), a classic French restaurant on East 82nd Street where the handwritten menus feature throwback dishes such as crisp sweetbreads—and the owners politely ask guests to put away their phones. For New York's finest black-and-white cookie, visit William Greenberg Desserts (wmgreenbergdesserts.com), in business since 1946. Bibliophiles will love the collectible tomes at Ursus Books & Gallery (ursusbooks.com). Many of the heavy-hitter museums are up here—including the Metropolitan Museum of Art and the Met Breuer (metmuseum.org), the Frick Collection (frick.org), and the Guggenheim (guggenheim.org)—but don't neglect the often overlooked Museum of the City of New York (mcity.org), which has 750,000 objects detailing the history of Gotham.
